

ProQuest Open Access Service

An Overview for Graduate Schools and Libraries

Overview

With the ProQuest Open Access Service publishing option, graduate students can publish their dissertations and theses on proquest.com, making the full text PDF downloadable on the open web. Once published, open access graduate works will be made available in the following ways, ensuring the widest possible exposure of the author's graduate research:

- PQDT: Open access graduate works will be available for free download to all users of the ProQuest® Dissertations & Theses (PQDT) database, the world's most comprehensive collection of dissertations and theses.
- PROQUEST.COM: Open access titles can be retrieved via open web entry to the ProQuest platform. Anyone with access to the Internet will be able to read and download open access dissertations and theses for free.

Fee

The Open Access Service costs $95. This one-time fee funds the perpetual hosting of the student's work for electronic public access.

Choosing Open Access Publishing

Our publishing agreement allows students to specify their choice of either Open Access Publishing or Traditional publishing when they submit. They will pay the fee for Open Access Publishing as determined by their graduate institution (graduate works submitted via the ProQuest Electronic Theses and Dissertation Administrator and published via Traditional Publishing). The university may choose to cover, or to subsidize, the Open Access fee.

Open Access from ProQuest versus Traditional Publishing

All of the same services and processes that go into Traditional publishing efforts will apply to ProQuest's Open Access Service. They will be indexed, microfilmed, preserved and archived as they have always been.
